

Preparing for a hurricane? Don't forget your pets!

Plan ahead. Determine where you will go if evacuation is necessary and include your pets in your evacuation plan. Be sure you're equipped to safely transport your pet and that your destination accepts animals. Microchip your pets and get them engraved tags that include at least two contact phone numbers and the pet's name. Keep a photo of your pets with you at all times. These steps make becoming reunited after a disaster easier. Microchips are available at Animal Services for $15.

Pack for emergencies. You know you should stock up on batteries, canned food and bottled water for you and your family. But make sure to count your pets in when calculating the amount of water and food you keep on hand. Keep the following items in your household's emergency kit:

Pet Emergency Kit Checklist:

- Pet carrier.*
- Water.*
- Pet food.*
- Pet first-aid kit.*
- Special medications.*
- Veterinarian records.*
- Proof of rabies vaccine.*
- Leash, collar and toys.*
- Familiar blanket or towel.*

Pet-Friendly Shelter

Weather the storm.

If your home is unsafe and you have nowhere else to go, Marion County Animal Services hosts a pet-friendly shelter at Vanguard High School, the only county shelter that accepts pets. Be sure you can comply with the shelter parameters:

- Owners must provide proof of rabies vaccinations and county licenses for their pets.
- Birds must have and be in secure cages.
- Owners must stay at Vanguard but will not be housed in the same building as their pets.
- Exotic animals, aggressive dogs or animals weighing more than 80 pounds are not accepted. Make alternative plans in advance.
